Plays the Harmonium and Does Sums in Arithmetic. The horse Alpha has autonished London theater-goers with his intelligence. blackboard is brought upon the stage and he is asked to show his arithmetical powers.

The animal turns to the figures, thinks a moment, apparently, and then paws out on the floor figure after figure till his substrac-tion or addition or multiplication sum is correctly done.

Sometimes he makes a mistake, and with an impatient shake of his mane, and a vicious light in his eyes, he begins again and rights the wrong. Somehow, the British milid refuses to believe that a horse, even of the Alpha breed, actually "does sums;" one suspects some hidden trick by which the trainer causes his horse to make certain signs that look like the result of thought. But, whether or not his trainer employs these "artistio" means, the result is certainly most striking, and if trick there be it is concealed in a most marvelous manner.

Alpha also plays the harmonism, and his rendering of "God Save the Queen" on an enormous keyboard is a sarthing performance, and a more correct one than in many an impatient shake of his mane, and a victous ance, and a more correct one than in many other cases. The clever creature also selects letters from the alphabet, tells the time, plays a game of nap and fires a gun, for which latter feat, strange to say, he shows a decided predilection. The performance ends with a grotesque transformation of the beautiful horse into a purse in skirts, white aprou, tartan shawl and gorgeous poke bonnet.

is only just being trained for an artistle career, is caused to sit on its haunches in a

Men Who Want House Offices Are Now in the Field.

HEADQUARTERS ARE OPENED

for the Clerkship, but Has Some Strong Opponents-Ben Russell, of Missouri, for Sergeant-at-Arms. Some Combines Arranged.

Representative William A. Stone, of Pennsylvania, has arrived in the city and made arangements to open headquar-ters at Willard's Hotel, where the campaign of ex-Repressentative McDowell for the clerkship of the house will be conducted.

make a strong, and it is believed successful fight for the position.

With the Speakership contest decided in advance, the chief interest in the caucus called for November 30 centers in the clerkship. Prior to the adjournment of Congresss a combination is said to have been formed by which the elective offices were equitably distributed, and a sufficient number of votes pledged from the various States interested to carry the slate through at the proper time.

The existence of this combination is conclusively indicated by the announcement that Representative Hooker, of New York, will shortly come to Washington to open the campaign for doorkeeper for Mr. W. J. Glenn, of Cuba, N. Y., and that the McDowell and Glenn headquarters will be in the same rooms. York and Pennsylvania have formed a York and Pennsylvania have formed a combination for mutual support. The friends of McDowell and Glenn are also favorably inclined to the aspirations of Ben Russell, ex-speaker of the Missouri House of Delegates, for sergeant-at-arms. THE WEAK POINT.

If this combination holds, Pennsylvania, New York and Missouri will vote for an Ohio man for postmaster, and will yield to Kansas' expressed wish for the chaplaincy. The weak points about the candidacies of all the men, except McDowell, dacies of all the men, except alcinowed, is that they are not ex-members.

Joe Cannon will be here shortly to open headquarters for ex-kepresentative Henderson, who in Hilmois' candidate for the clerkship. McDowell, however, seems to have the inside track, if the New York-Pennsylvania arrangement lasts. Mr. Quay and Mr. Plant look favorably on it.

Representative Stone supports Senator

Pennsylvania arrangement lasts. Mr. Quny and Mr. Platt look favorably on it. Representative Stone supports Senator Quay in his plans for improving navigable streams and constructing ship canals. In speaking on this subject, be said:

"Increased duties on certain articles are necessary for the protection of American manufacturers, but a higher tariff is not a panacea for all our wants. Increased duties will be necessary in order to provide revenue for the ordinary expenses of the Government, and to overcome the deficit, which is mounting upward every month. But for internal improvements we need something more—something that will provide an immense sum of money at once and permit the prosecution of a supendous system of Government work immediately.

"My plan is simply to take most of the money now paid out in pensions and devote if to slack water improvements in our rivers, dredging our harbors and building ship canals. Don't get alarmed; I do not propose to rob the old soldier, nor take away a single dollar of pensions. There are paid out in pensions at the present approximately $135,000,000 a year. I would pay this amount, or a large propertion of it, say $100,000,000, in 2 per cent bonds, to run five or seven years and be redeemable at the will of the Government.

met by the bonds, none of which under. $10. For instance, if dier's pension amounted to $36, I would pay $30 of it in the 2 per cent bonds and the balance in cash. ISSUE A CERTIFICATE. "I believe that such a scheme would be practicable, especially if the bonds were given the same standing as other United States securities, and could be used by national banks as the basis of circuition. I would not give the bonds direct to the pensioner, but issue him a certificate which would call for a bond. These certificates would be readily cashed at the banks and I have no doubt would command a small premium. I would provide a sinking fund of not less than $10,000,000 a year for the eventual redeription of these bonds.

As the years went on the amount of pensions. would gradually grow less, and in time the sinking fund would be ample to meet the bond issue. I would treat pensions as a war debt for another generation to pay. "I believe that $100,000,000 could be expended judiciously every year in internal improvements. I would favor letting the work to private contractors, and thus give an immense army of men immediate employment, and giving an impetus to various industries, the product of which would be used in river and harbor improvement. I would dredge the belaware provement. I would already and make it navigable for all sea going vessels. I would favor the building of a ship canal from New York barbor to the Delaware. The Ohio river should be made navigable at all seasons of the year, like-wise the Allegheny and Monongahelin. The Lake Erie & Ohio canal should be built-All these improvements ought to be made within the next few years, and they could be if the work was let under contract with government engineers to supervise it." William J. Langdon, aged twenty-three years, is beld at station No. 1 on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, though he closely escaped being charged with the larceny of a borse and buggy. The taraout of Al Frederick, Washington agent for the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company, was standing in front of Ecksien's saloon. Langdon was at the bar, and Mr. Frederick was chatting with a group of friends. Langdon left and leaping into the buggy drove rapidly away. The alarm was given and Policeman Hollinberger headed off the fugitive. It was not thought that a case of grand larceny could be made

Coroner Hawkins, of San Francisco, has had more inquests over suicides singe January 1 than were ever held in San Francisco during an equal period. Since Francisco during an equal period. Since he took charge of the office, seven and a half months ago, 94 suicides have come to his notice, being nearly as many as occurred in 1893 or 1894.
